JMU — A Dynamic Environment

The boundaries of James Madison University extend beyond Interstate 81 and Main Street as the impact of the university is felt throughout the Harrisonburg community and Shenandoah Valley. Each year the population of James Madison contributes to the economic growth of the surrounding area by patronizing local businesses. Through the Fine Arts series and disciplines, the Visiting Scholars program and UPB events, opportunities to enhance cultural awareness exist.

In return, the Shenandoah Valley provides several places where students can escape the day-to-day pressures of college life. Students have traditionally enjoyed camping excursions to the Skyline Drive or remote Switzer's Dam. The picturesque sunrises and sunsets of Reddish Knob create a lasting impression for those who have witnessed them. Massanutten provides year-round recreational activities for all to enjoy. Golf and skiing are the most popular sports at the mountain resort.

Each year, as the campus grows in population, the need for physical plant expansion arises. The ever-present construction equipment around campus shows how this need is constantly being met.

With the increasing enrollment comes a demand for the addition of more classes. This type of change triggers a restructuring of courses and sometimes an entire department.

The physical maturation of the university is not the only growth JMU experiences. As times change so do attitudes. JMU grows with the time by facing new frontiers — technological, social and academic with an open mind.

However, the environment and the willingness to adapt within requires one main ingredient — the people. It takes a dynamic cast of thousands — from the Board of Visitors, administration, faculty and staff, alumni, students, parents and friends of JMU, to begin, expand and continue the traditions of this university. The interaction of these groups of people is the mainstay of the university community.

As the entire university community progresses, a pride in past and present traditions remains constant. With the basic traditions established, one entity is created — THE university of Virginia-- James Madison University, a tradition in excellence.

Campus life at James Madison University involves many entertaining events. Students participated in outdoor happenings such as the freshman watermelon feast, Spring Fever, Valley Day, Homecoming festivities and the traditional Christmas tree lighting. Big name shows came to JMU including the Hooters, Bob Hope, Chuck Mangione, "Lysistrata" and "Evita." And, as is the case every year, students enjoyed performing arts concerts, semesters abroad and their friendships made here at JMU.

SHOOT YOURSELF

SHOOT YOURSELF

A Nine-Year Tradition

What on earth would ever encourage two JMU students to disguise as a terrible accident victim and a doctor or as two commandos or as Groucho Marx look-alikes? Nothing except the Bluestone's Ninth Annual Shoot Yourself contest!!

Shoot Yourself is an opportunity for JMU students to pose with their friends or the faculty in any number of crazy, clever or unique manners.

A Bluestone photographer sets up the camera to focus and prepare for the shot. Then someone in the picture is supposed to pull the camera's release cord to shoot the picture.

The Bluestone staff then judges all the photos and votes on a first, second and third place winner. All other contestants receive honorable mention recognition for their time and efforts in the Shoot Yourself contest.

A record number of applicants "shot themselves" for the 1987 Bluestone and the staff is pleased to present the winners on the following pages. First place goes to seniors Dick Futrell and Mark Pratt for "Health Centre," second place to "Evolution of a College Student," and third place to "Kid at Heart." Congratulations to all who participated!

Some students at JMU insist on being models to their peers — attending classes regularly and never getting behind in any of their homework. Yet other students do only what is needed to slide by — going to their classes when they have tests (or reviews for tests) and staying up every night during exam week just to pass their courses.

But both the model student and the student who just scrapes by miss an occasional class or two for a legitimate reason. The following are some of these excuses that students lay on their teachers for missing classes:

1. I was up late studying for another test and missed my first class.

2. I had to work.

3. My roommate forgot to reset our alarm after he/she got up.

4. (Seniors) I had an interview for a job after graduation.

5. One of my relatives died (or got married or had a baby . . .)

6. Well, I'm a commuter and I couldn't get to campus cause it was snowing.

7. I was at the health center all afternoon.

8. My ride is leaving early for semester break.

9. My ride didn't come back from semester break until late.

Helms

Towe

Towe

1. The teacher has no attendance policy.

2. I was too lazy to do all of the homework.

3. Pee Wee's Big Adventure was on HBO at the same time as class.

4. (Girls) I couldn't find anything to wear and my hair looked bad.

5. (Guys) I woke up too late for a shower and then I couldn't find my baseball hat.

6. On "All My Children", Erica's plane had just been hijacked and then crashed in the jungles of South America and I had to see if she survived.

7. I went to Ladies' Night at JM's the night before.

8. It was Monday.

9. It was Friday.

Keeping the Dukes Entertained

Students at James Madison can always find many ways to amuse themselves — frequenting the few bars in Harrisonburg, attending sports events, dancing, going to the movies, watching television. In 1986 and 1987, these students saw the continuation of the success of many favorite celebrities, as well as some new faces on the national entertainment scene.

In the world of rock and roll, David Lee Roth split from Van Halen and began a solo career with the album Eat 'Em and Smile . Meanwhile, Van Halen teamed up with rocker Sammy Haggar and produced 5150, the first number one album in the history of the band.

The past year also saw the comebacks of several popular Seventies' rock and roll bands. These revived groups included the Monkees with "That Was Then, This Is Now," Boston with Third Stage and the Moody Blues with The Other Side of Life .

Tom Cruise starred in Top Gun , one of the biggest films of the year. After the great success of Top Gun , Cruise also starred in The Color of Money with the ever-popular Paul Newman.

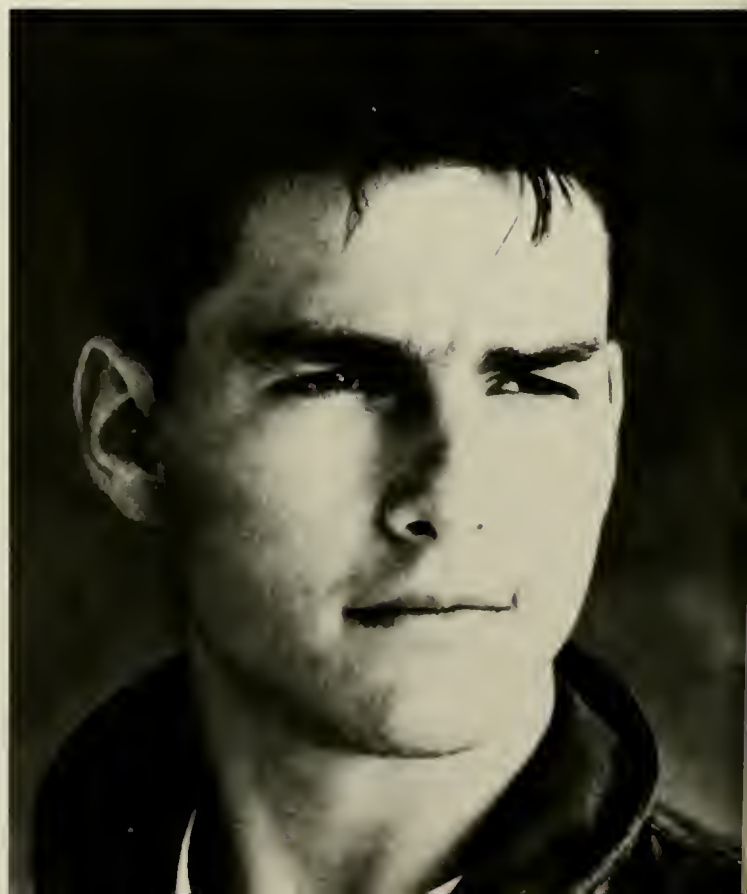
Whoopi Goldberg received some well-deserved recognition when she starred in the critically acclaimed film, The Color Purple . She followed up that triumph with the comedy Jumpin' Jack Flash , a movie whose title song featured Aretha Franklin in a remake of the old Rolling Stones hit.

Madonna and husband Sean Penn celebrated their first wedding anniversary in 1986 and co-starred in one of the biggest film flops of the year, Shanghai Surprise . Madonna also released the popular album, True Blue , with the hit singles: "Live To Tell," "Papa Don't Preach," "True Blue" and "Open Your Heart."



Cybill Shepherd and Bruce Willis continued to entertain their audiences in the Tuesday night favorite, "Moonlighting." The popularity of the show also boosted Willis to commercial success for products such as Seagram's Wine Coolers.

"The Boss" gave his multitude of fans a spectacular Christmas present in 1986 — Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band Live/1975-85 . This 40-song showcase of Springsteen's career features such hits as "Spirit in the Night," "Jersey Girl," "Born To Run," and the previously unreleased "War."

The popularity of "The Cosby Show" continued to grow in 1986 and 1987, making it the top-rated program on NBC. Students crammed themselves into television lounges, dorm rooms or friends' living rooms to watch the big Thursday three: "The Cosby Show," "Family Ties" starring Michael J. Fox, and "Cheers."

JMU Experimental Theater

The Wampler building, once a turkey hatchery, is the home of the James Madison Experimental Theater. Almost entirely student operated, it provides students with hands-on learning experience. Directing, writing,lighting and producing are some of the facets which can be explored.

Unique to the Experimental Theater is the cozy atmosphere which encourages a more intimate relationship between the actors and the audience.The small theater lends the audience to forget that they are spectators and become participants.There is no curtain or raised stage to remind the audience that they are outsiders looking in.

The James Madison Experimental Theater offers an active experience not only to those on stage but to all who enter its doors.

ELECTRIFYING

Whether enjoying JMU athletics from the stands or from the playing field it takes an energetic group of people to proudly display the purple and gold.

In the seventy-nine year history of JMU numerous traditions have evolved that represent the spirit of the students. Most of these traditions we take for granted since they were here when we arrived, but they are a vital part of the spirit of JMU.

JMU fans find ways to get caught up in the excitement of the competition. During football season students and alumni congregate to "the hill" where the revelry of the fans flourishes. This most popular vantage point which often takes the place of the stadium has been a potential site for various buildings over the years. But the tradition of Saturday "on the hill" remains a part of JMU.

A significant tradition during football season at many universities is "tailgating." Some people prefer to grill hamburgers next to their RV's; others go the more elaborate route complete with a limousine, tables decorated with china, crystal, and linen tablecloths, in purple and gold of course. It's not unusual to find Godwin field speckled with tailgate parties before home games.

Another tradition at JMU is the "Electric Zoo." Toilet paper throwing, ignoring the opponent's starting line up, and other antics intended to intimidate the opponent characterize the zoo! Even after conference rules prohibited toilet paper throwing, the spirit of the zoo continues and fans still "rock the convo."

The hill, tailgating, and the "Electric Zoo" — all a part of JMU's spirited traditions."

HERITAGE

Sports at JMU have always played an important role in the university's history. Organized sports have evolved from the recreational clubs of 1908 to the competitive teams as we know them today.

The first athletic teams were actually clubs and participated in intramural competition. Basketball and tennis clubs formed in 1908 and were the first women's sports in the university's history. Two years later the Athletic Association formed. This organization was responsible for scheduling club and intergroup sports competition.

In 1921 basketball became the first official varsity sport. Volleyball and field hockey followed in 1922 and 1924 respectively. Today all three enjoy success as nationally ranked teams.

In 1946 when men enrolled as regular students a need for men's athletics grew. Basketball became the first sport for men just as it had for the women and was the dominant sport from 1947 to 1966. The next year sororities sponsored touch football teams for the men.

Intramurals for men were also an essential component of the athletic program. As enrollment increased over the years other varsity sports such as tennis, soccer, and wrestling were established.

Today JMU boasts twelve varsity sports for men and twelve for women. Both men and women participate in archery, basketball, cross country and track and field, golf, gymnastics, swimming and diving, and tennis. Baseball, football, soccer, and wrestling are other prominent men's athletics while the women may participate in fencing, field hockey, lacrosse, and volleyball. Offering a wide variety of programs, JMU continues to make its mark on intercollegiate athletics and produce numerous team and individual success stories each year.

CHARMS

The "Dukes," purple and gold, and "Duke dog" — all familiar to the university community, continue to be the valued symbols of JMU!!!

School colors, mascot, and nicknames are age-old traditions in all institutions. JMU is not shy about letting people know who we are and establishing this association through our age-old traditions.

Showing support for our teams, seas of purple and gold can be seen at all athletic contests. Whether it be the team uniforms or the one person who will inevitably wear a JMU sweatshirt, the colors are worn with pride.

The first two literary societies on campus, Lanier and Lee, combined their colors. Lee's colors were grey and gold and Lanier's were violet and white. Later purple replaced the violet because the color was easier to obtain.

In 1946 when the first men's basketball team was formed they decided that a nickname was needed. The nickname, the "Dukes" was chosen to honor Dr. Samuel Page Duke, president from 1919 to 1949.

"Duke dog" is no stranger to the JMU community. The first Duke bulldog, "Bunker," appeared on the scene in 1967. He was owned by Dr. Henry Myers of the political science department. Six years later "Bunker" became Duke I complete with his regal purple cape and crown.

In 1983 the lovable, huggable two-legged "Duke dog" mascot came into existence. The spirited and sometimes mischevious "Duke dog" entertains crowds at football and basketball games with his antics.

The "Dukes," "Duke dog," and purple and gold — three of the lasting traditions at JMU.

Perhaps the most difficult thing to maintain in a university environment is one's individualtiy. Yet a visitor walking around campus may observe that the students of JMU do not fit into stereotypical classifications. This value of individuality among the student body plays a significant role in university life. It is the diversity of the people at James Madison that makes the entire university community a cohesive entity.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Russell G. Warren
Acting President

This year Dr. Russell Warren moved from the position of JMU's Vice President for Academic Affairs to take on the job of Acting President of the University. His goals for his one year as president reflected his orientation towards academic affairs but also his interest in development of the Universtiy as a whole. He continued work on his five year academic plan which is designed to give students a comprehensive and coherent education. In conjunction with that plan Dr. Warren began work on a study of student affairs to discover the non-cognitive areas where students are learning. Because 1987 is the Two-hundredth anniversary of the U.S. Constitution, written by James Madison, Dr. Warren worked to gain recognition for JMU from the Commonwealth of Virginia as the bicentennial campus. Dr. Warren also worked to continue JMU's reputation as one of the fastest growing universities on the East coast. He worked to assure the completion of the three building projects on campus this year: a new dorm on the hillside, a new music building on the Quad, and the addition of two houses to greek row. Dr. Warren seemed to enjoy his year as president and the students welcomed him warmly. Early in the football season, the 300 Marching Royal Dukes crowned Russ Warren with a welcoming chant of "UNCLE RUSS! UNCLE RUSS!" Dr. Warren has said of his year as Acting President, "The year and how well JMU has done is a remarkable credit to the achievement of the administrators, faculty, and students."

Dr. Ronald E. Carrier
President

Dr. Ronald Carrier took a one year leave of absence from the job of President of JMU after fifteen years of service to the University. During his year away he served as President of Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology. The center was suffering from poor administration and Dr. Carrier was called on to turn the program in a more productive direction.

Senior year holds many feelings for different students. The prospect of being out of school and finally working is both exciting and rather scary. The idea of leaving the friends that have been support for four years is very sad. On the whole Seniors are excited to graduate but will hold fond memories of JMU. As Lisa Martin, a Senior, has put it "It will be very hard to leave here in May realizing that I will not be coming back in September and that the friends I have been closest to will not be around any more."

Junior year is the hardest year a college student experiences. It is the year when students are involved in the first concentrated study of their major. Many Juniors are known to their friends as "bookworms" because they spend so much time studying. Beth Stilwell, a Junior, observed "There is a noticeable increase in my workload this year so I have to learn to budget my time in order to have some time to relax or socialize."

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore year is probably the most comfortable year college has to offer. In their second year most students are comfortable in their college surroundings but have not yet begun to feel the pressure to be ready to enter the working world. Beth Heisner, a Sophomore, has noted that " The best part of being a Sophomore is that you know just enough to be comfortable and relaxed but realize that there is always something new to learn."

Laura Adams

"My sophomore year has been the best year." Greg Jones, Sophomore

FRESHMEN

Freshman year is known to be the scariest year of the college experience. This is because coming from high school and trying to adjust to college life can be overwhelming at first. It seems impossible to fit in and make friends but by second semester it all gets easier. Freshmen learn to be challenged instead of inhibited by all that is going on in the college environment. Dave Wallace, a Freshman, optimistically observes that "Fresman year is mainly meeting new people, making new friends and realizing all that you have to learn."

"The scariest part about being a Freshman is facing an empty mailbox." Becky Cook, Senior

Although the primary goal of any university is to educate its students, the better schools offer something more. James Madison provides its students with numerous opportunities for involvement in extracurricular activities. From honor societies to professional clubs, from service groups to publications staffs, from fraternities to sororities, the interests of students are met through unity and participation. JMU really does have something for everyone!

ACTIVITIES

A Tradition in Involvement

BLUESTONE

Towe

Photographers: Larry Towe, Patrick Dennis, Brian Soule, Steven Helms.

Staff Members: Susan Bracey, Tom Horner, Valeta Bostic.

Towe

The James Madison University yearbook, the Bluestone is produced by a dynamic group of students from various majors and class levels. Because a yearbook is intended as a "lasting" publication, it is something the Bluestone staff can be proud to leave behind as a reminder of life at J.M.U. in 1987.

Entire Staff: Tom Horner, Susan Bracey, Stephanie Cole, Donna Rosen, Patrick Dennis, Andrea Neilan, Amanda Mays, Amy Laser, Brian Soule, Valeta Bostic, Susan Minor, Larry Towe, Steven Helms.

Sometimes students at James Madison find themselves too busy with their classes, jobs and social lives to appreciate their surroundings — the beauty of the quad, the stateliness of the bluestone buildings, even the excitement of the ongoing construction and growth of JMU. On the following pages, the BLUESTONE photographers share their unique perspective of the campus with photos that capture the mood, composition and intensity of JMU.

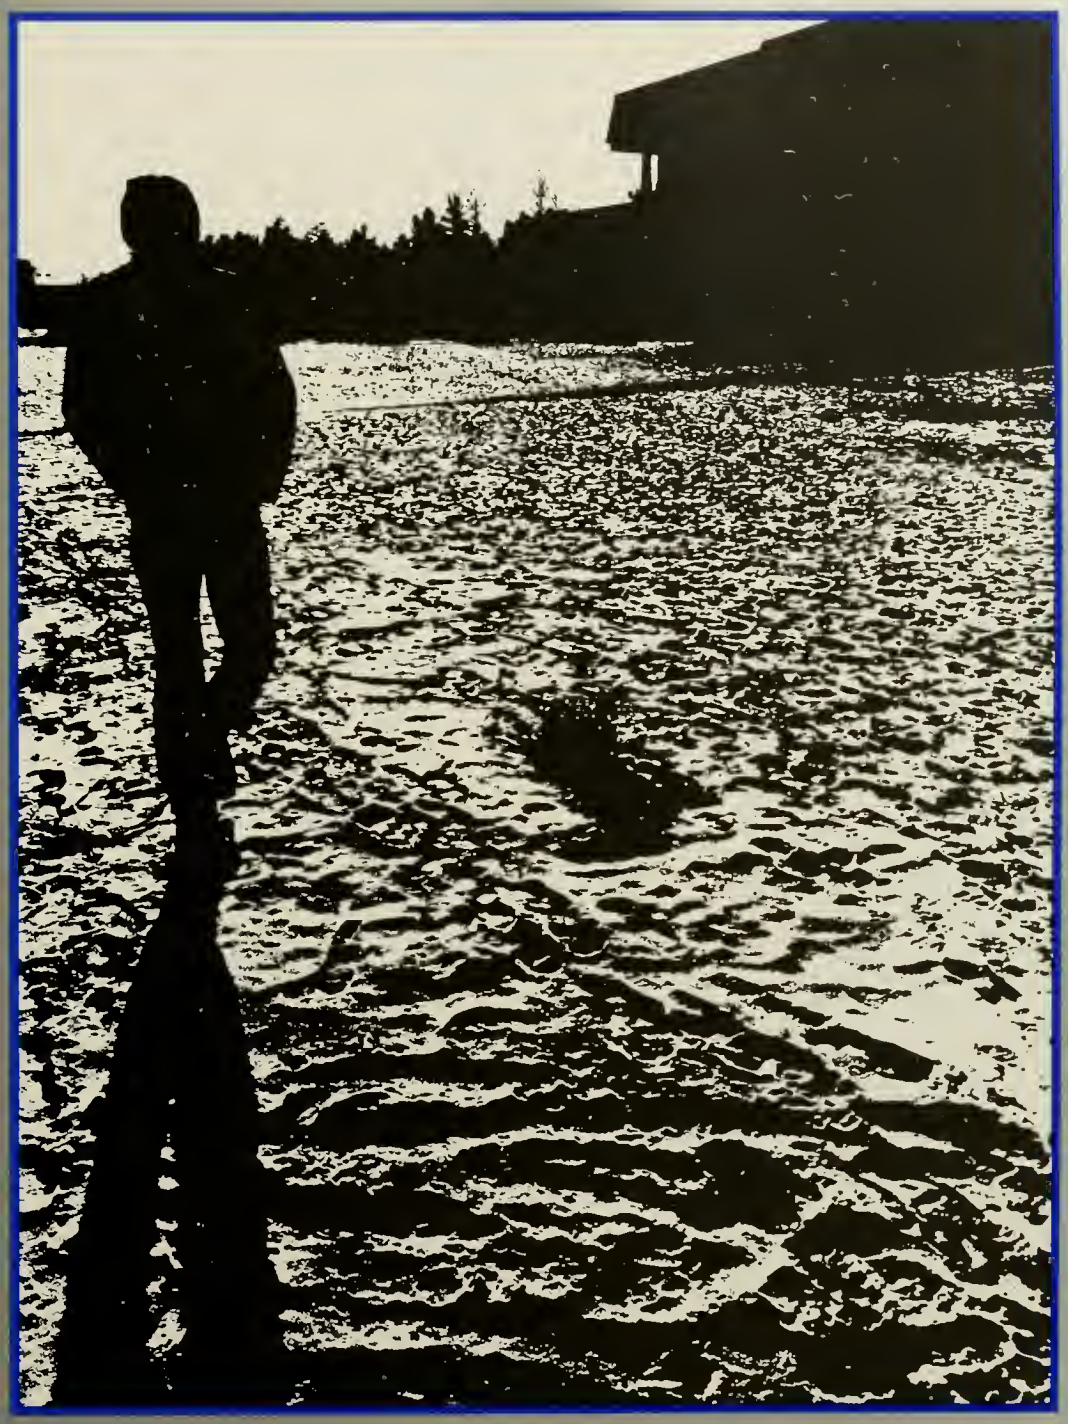
Just as 1987 is one year out of many years in JMU's history, each individual is a small fraction of the university community. Yet, neither is more important. It takes that ONE year and the ONE person to "keep a good thing going," and with many years and many people JMU proves just that. Like the years, people come and go but the impact they make while they are here will always continue.

JAMES MADISON

A Continuing Tradition



WORLD NEWS

The doors have closed on another year at James Madison University. But as our years at school come and go, separated by Christmas and spring breaks and summer vacations, the events of the so-called "real world" keep moving on. Wars are still being fought, people are still starving, couples are still getting married (and divorced), and governments are constantly changing. What follows are the highlights of this past year - - what happened in the outside world while we were worrying about classes, budgets, grades and social lives.

The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 100th birthday on the Fourth of July, 1986, and all of the United States celebrated with her. The festival of superstars, songs and fantastic fireworks was organized by Peter Ueberroth, using funds raised by Chairman Lee Iacocca. Personalities such as President and Nancy Reagan, New York mayor Ed Koch and dancer Mikhail Baryshnikov participated in the weekend-long event.

In October, the leaders of the two most powerful countries in the world met for a two-day summit in Reykjavik, Iceland. President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev discussed arms control but came to an impasse on the testing of the U. S. Star Wars weaponry.

A melt-down at the Chernobyl power plant in the Soviet Union contaminated, probably for decades, 60 square miles of farmland surrounding the plant. Other countries that were affected by the disaster included Japan, Great Britain, Italy and West Germany.

The year was one filled with many grisly acts of violence and terrorism. Two Arab terrorists killed more than 20 worshippers in Istanbul's main synagogue before killing themselves with hand grenades. Additional incidents of terrorism occurred in Paris and West Germany. President Reagan responded to the Libyan-backed violence with an order for U.S. Air Force and Navy jets to attack five targets in Libya. One of the main targets was the Libyan Naval Academy, located near Tripoli.

A U.N. employee from the Soviet Union, Gennadiy Zakharov was arrested in New York and accused of spying. Only one week later Nicholas Daniloff, an American journalist in Moscow, was arrested under the same charge. Both men were released within weeks amid controversy.

After 20 years of ruling, Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos was ousted from his office amid charges of corruption, scandal and conspicuous consumption. As the new president, Corazon Aquino faced both politcal and economic turmoil.

A massive war against drugs started in 1986 after the deaths of basketball standout Len Bias and football player Don Rogers. Congress passed the Anti-drug Abuse Act of 1986, which allocated more than $1.7 billion to fight drugs. In addition, President and Nancy Reagan campaigned against drugs and urged people to "Just say 'No'."

Unfortunately, 1986 also brought the worst dry spell on record to the farmers of the Southeast United States. Crops were destroyed from Pennsylvania to Florida, including parts of Virginia.

The New York Mets experienced the sweet thrill of victory with their 8-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the seventh game of the World Series. Likewise, the New York Giants trounced the Denver Broncos, 39-20, in Super Bowl XXI. Cyclist Greg LeMond, 25, became the first American to win the famed 24-day Tour de France.

Wedding bells tolled in 1986-87, and tolled, and tolled . . . In July, Britain's Prince Andrew married English commoner Sarah Ferguson at Westminster Abbey. Also,

Gennadiy Zakharov

Nicholas Daniloff

Caroline Kennedy, daughter of President John Kennedy, married a New York businessman/artist Edwin Schlossberg. Other couples who tied the knot included Diana Ross and Norwegian zillionaire Arne Naess Jr., Maria Shriver and Arnold Schwarzenegger, John McEnroe and Tatum O'Neal, Debra Winger and Timothy Hutton, and Heather Locklear and Motley Crue's Tommy Lee.

Finally, in 1986-87 we bid our last farewell to many well-known personalities including Ted Knight, James Cagney, Benny Goodman, Ricky Nelson, Perry Ellis, Cary Grant, Simone de Beauvoir, Marlin Perkins, Kate Smith and Liberace. Goodbye to these late greats.

And goodbye to another year.

CAMPUS NEWS

1987 was a year of progress. Some of JMU's traditions lingered, others changed or even ended, and for some it was a time for new beginnings.

The largest freshman class in the history of JMU enrolled for the fall semester, 1986. Due to this excessive number, one section of the typically male dorm, White Hall, became home for freshman girls -- much to the surprise of the parents as they moved their children in!

Students returned to campus in the fall to find a new bank in the Warren Campus Center and a new phone system in the dorms. First American Bank replaced Sovran with less expensive service charges, free check cashing and more convenient hours. The new $3.9 million phone system became a play toy for the students. Features such as call waiting and musical hold intrigued them, but not as much as the more convenient and less expensive billing system.

New regulations banning full lofts and the removal of furniture from Bluestone area dorms went into effect this year. Triple occupancy dorm rooms seemed especially crowded because of these changes.

The new drinking age had an impact on JMU students as the number of underaged students increased. Fraternities and local bars were affected by this law and formed stricter "carding" policies. Despite the number of underaged students a campus pub opened in January as a gathering place for students. Beer and "mocktails" were served as well as snack foods.

Progress was made to get WJMR on the air. The progressive music station which would provide a listening alternative to JMU students passed the first stages of planning and is still making headway.

Two new social organizations joined the Greek system this year. Chi Phi fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega sorority colonized chapters at JMU.

Senior Joan Johnson was crowned Ms. Madison at the Homecoming football game. Joan, who was nominated by Psi Chi psychology honor club, was the first black woman in the history of JMU to win.

Two major snowstorms blasted the east coast within four days of each other, dropping almost two feet of snow on the Shenandoah Valley. The infamous Blizzard of '87 forced the cancellation of classes twice during that period. Along with the increasing snowfall came an increase in beer sales for area markets as students enjoyed the long weekend.

Logan's Run, in its eleventh year, met its goal of raising $7000 for Rockingham Memorial Hospital. The annual relay, which began on the steps of the U.S. Capitol, was sponsored by the Bluestone area dorms.

The "Electric Zoo" returned to the JMU Convocation Center to cheer on the Dukes in a basketball season that was certainly a turn-around from the previous year. Leading the Madison fans was the JMU Cheer Squad, which placed first in the Ford College National Cheerleading Championship in San Diego, California.

This year also saw the loss of three JMU students. Senior Doug West, a football player, died of injuries sustained when he fell from the bed of a pick-up truck in August. Karen Lynn Nice took her own life several days after fall semester exams, and Bethy Jo Hefner was killed over Christmas break in a car accident.

In the past year, JMU's academic reputation has been recognized by publications such as U.S. News and World Report and Money. Efforts to continue this recognition were made by Dr. Ronald Carrier, president, and Dr. Russell Warren, acting president. Dr. Carrier, on a year's leave of absence, serving as President for the Center for Innovative Technology, has made several business and professional ties which could prove beneficial to JMU. Dr. Warren worked on his 5-year plan for continued improvement of JMU programs.

Throughout the year plans for celebrating the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution were finalized. Efforts to recognize JMU as the official school continued as events kicked off the year-long celebration.

In a verbal faux pas on the Monday Night Football game between the Washington Redskins and the San Francisco 49ers, Frank Gifford referred to JMU as "James Madison College." Redskin standout Gary Clark and Charles Haley, of the 49ers, are both grads of "Little James Madison," as Al Michaels erroneously called us.

Through the traditions of the past and present and those we leave for future students, each individual in the JMU community has shown that "Little James Madison" — we're not!

BLUESTONE

Soule

Bluestone Staff-

How do we begin to sum up our feelings from this year? We produced a fantastic book — one that everyone should be proud of. Certainly Taylor Publishing was proud as they are printing extra copies of Bluestone '87 to serve as a sample yearbook throughout the United States. So many other yearbook staffs can enjoy and learn from the efforts of our staff.

We feel that the experiment with having Co-Editors-in-Chief was a successful one. The doubts others may have had quickly disappeared as we began to work together as a staff in producing the book you now hold in your hands. Look back through this book and appreciate the many people and many hours that went into its production. We also appreciate those, outside of the staff, who supported us throughout the year.

We decided that the year and the book would not be complete without giving a few special awards to a few special people:

Little Amy -"Internal Control Award" — for controlling the money, stamps, patrons, the Copytext card and US.

Andrea -"Flexible Ladder Award" — for all the additions, subtractions and rearrangements of her section and never complaining.

Stephanie -"Maximus Award" — for learning to completely fill a quad-pak with graphic instructions and type specifications.

Susan -"Bluestone Spirit Award" — for always having a smile even when the chips were down (and for almost keeping Larry in line!)

Gary -"New Kid in Town Award" — for being the youngest editor and for not acting like too much of a freshman.

Donna -"Wonder Woman Award" — for always having everything in at least two days early. (Also contact Donna if you ever need to meet anyone on the campus because she knows the world!)

Steve -"Veteran of the Staff Award" — for the photographer who has been here longer than any of us and who has taken more pictures of gymnasts than Sports Illustrated.

Larry -"Media Relations Award" — for his valiant efforts to promote good relations between campus publications.

Pat -"Inconspicuous Photographer Award" — for rarely attending staff meetings yet always managing to get his assignments done on time.

Brian -"Purple Heart Award" — for his bravery and loss of sunglasses in the line of duty.

Mandy -"I've Got a Million and One Things To Do Award"- for being the busiest person on the staff yet always doing everything well.

Amy -"Fear of Technology Award" — for being afraid of the computer especially PageVision and IndexVision (but she sure can jam on TypeVision.)

Suzi -"Best Adviser/Non-Adviser Award" — for always being there when we needed her but not being there when we didn't.

Thanks to everyone involved with Bluestone '87. It truly was a pleasure. And in keeping with our tradition . . .

Hugs and Kisses,
Amy and Mandy

Colophon

The 1987 James Madison University Bluestone , Volume 79, was published by Taylor Publishing Company, 1550 West Mockingbird Lane, Dallas, Texas.

Press run was 6200 copies with 392 pages. Fifty additional copies were printed for distribution as a Taylor Publishing Company sample book.

The cover, endsheets and divider pages were designed by Amy Laser and Amanda Mays in collaboration with Taylor Publishing Mid-Atlantic Representative, George Olsen. The cover was lithographed on 100 lb. paper with a special lamination applied to the surface. 160 pt. Binder's Board was used. Super Blue #11 was the dominant spot color. The cover also utilized Shimmering Silver #81 Mylar application. The book's bindings were Smythe-sewn, rounded and backed.

The two-design endsheets utilized Gainsborough Antique Silver paper with Super Blue #11 applied for the design. The divider pages used a 100 percent Shimmering Silver #81 background with Super Blue #11 for the rule lines and initial letters. Initial letters were designed by Andrea Neilan based on the Century Schoolbook typeface.

Layout designs of the different sections were designed by the section editors. Artwork for the Culture section was designed by Andrea Neilan. The graphic device used throughout the Athletics section was designed by Stephanie Cole and Amanda Mays. Thirty-one pages of four-color and seventeen pages of spot color were used.

Century Schoolbook was the dominant typeface used throughout the book. Body copy was set in 10 pt. and quotes were set in 18 pt. Headlines were set by Taylor Publishing using various typestyles for each section.

Black and white photographs were taken, processed and printed by Bluestone photographers. Color photographs, also taken by Bluestone photographers, were processed, printed and enlarged by Yearbook Associates, P.O. Box 91, Millers Falls, Massachusetts, 01349 and Gitchell's Studio, 79 East Market Street, Harrisonburg, VA. Steven Helms III designed the photo for page one and the portrait was taken at Gitchell's Studio.

Photographs from the World News section were purchased through Associated Press/Worldwide Photos. Photographs for the Culture feature on entertainment were purchased through Rock Music photos.

All text was submitted to the publisher on Taylor Publishing Company's TypeVision software. The administration section, campus news, staff pages and index were designed on PageVision software. The index was processed by using IndexVision software. The TPC Vision series software is IBM personal computer compatible.

Authorization to reproduce portions of this book and further information may be obtained by writing Bluestone , P.O. Box M-27, James Madison University, Harrisonburg, VA, 22807.
